Government Widgets for Your Websites

Friday, 31 October 2008 00:00

I've caught the widget bug, thanks to Daniel Cornwall , who mentioned on Twitter that he found some nifty
 EPA Widgets
.

So, out of curiosity, I did a search for other Government Agency widgets and widgets that use government information (such as those found on Govtrack.us or the Sunlight Foundation website). I found quite a few but I know there must be more out there.

I've compiled a " government widget guide " at my Gov Docs 2.0 wiki page . Please feel free to suggest others by commenting here or on the wiki page.

I thought it would be nice to have a guide so you can quickly browse widgets that you may want to add to your blog or webpage. For example, see my Environmental Law guide (a work in progress, mind you) for ideas!